

20. HAZARDOUS WASTE SITE CHARACTERIZATION

- 20.1 Patil, G. P., and Taillie, C. (1990). Evaluating the attainment of interim cleanup standards. In Proceedings of the Workshop on Superfund Hazardous Waste: Statistical Issues in Characterizing a Site: Protocols, Tools, and Research Needs, H. Lacayo, R. J. Nadeau, G. P. Patil, and L. Zaragoza, eds. U.S. EPA Statistical Policy Branch, Washington, DC. pp. 180-226.
- 20.2 Patil, G. P., and Taillie, C. (1991). Performance of the largest order statistics relative to the sample mean for the purpose of estimating a population mean. Bulletin of the International Statistical Institute, 54.
- 20.3 Patil, G. P., Taillie, C., and Waterman, R. P. (1991). Small-sample behavior of Rao's efficient scores test for the two-sample gamma problem. Journal of Quantitative Economics, 7(2), 221-230.
- 20.4 Patil, G. P. (1991). Statistical evaluation of the attainment of interim cleanup standards at hazardous waste sites. Proceedings of the ASA Section on Statistics and the Environment, Washington, DC. Pp. 22-30.
- 20.5 Patil, G. P., and Taillie, C. (1994). Statistical evaluation of the attainment of interim cleanup standards at hazardous waste sites. Environmental and Ecological Statistics, 1(4), 333-351.
- 20.6 Akritas, M. G., Ruscitti, T. F., and Patil, G. P. (1994). Statistical analysis of censored environmental data. In Handbook of Statistics Volume 12: Environmental Statistics, G. P. Patil, and C. R. Rao (eds). North Holland/Elsevier Science Publishers, New York and Amsterdam. pp. 221-242.
- 20.7 Johnson, G. J., and Patil, G. P. (1994). Observational economy for hazardous waste site characterization and evaluation using methods of composite sampling. In Proceedings of International Specialty Conference, 'Cost Effective Acquisition and Utilization of Data in the Management of Hazardous Waste Sites', R. E. Lewis, ed. Air & Waste Management Association, Pittsburgh, PA. pp. 83-99.
- 20.8 Johnson, G. D., Nussbaum, B. D., Patil, G. P., and Ross, N. P. (1995). Innovative Statistical Mind Sets and Novel Observational Approaches to Meet the Challenges of Hazardous Waste Site Management. In Challenges and Innovations in the Management of Hazardous Waste, R. E. Lewis, and G. Subklew, eds. Air & Waste Management Association, Pittsburgh, PA. pp. 3-32.